in the harbor here late yesterday evening. She entered the roadstead with only her periscope emerging from the water.The submarine had been seriously damaged, but the commander and crew refuse to tell the cause of the accident. The underwater boat anchored beside the German interned

WILL INTERN U-BOAT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Madrid, July 31.—Premier Dato announced today that the German submarine UB-23 which had anchored in Corunna harbor had been taken to Ferrol, the chief naval arsenal of Spain, 12 miles northeast of Corunna.The premier added that the government intended to keep strictly to the terms of the recent regulation regarding the entry of belligerent submarines into Spanish ports.King Alfonso on June 20 signed a decree which had for its object the avoidance of a repetition of incidents like the one at Cadiz where a German submarine took refuge and later was escorted out of the port by Spanish torpedo boats. By the decree submarines of all belligerent powers were forbidden to navigate within Spanish territorial waters or to enter Spanish ports.It was declared that all such submarines which entered the Spanish zone for whatever reason would be interned for the duration of the war.

GERMAN PRISONERS ESCAPING.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Petrograd, July 31.—The notable growth in the number of enemy war prisoners escaping from Russia since the revolution is engaging the attention of the military authorities.
According to published data from the beginning of the war until March total of 3,330 escaped have been registered, whereas during March 735 managed to get away. In April
2,518 and in May more than 3,000

SOLDIER ACCEPTED
BY CLEVELAND BD.

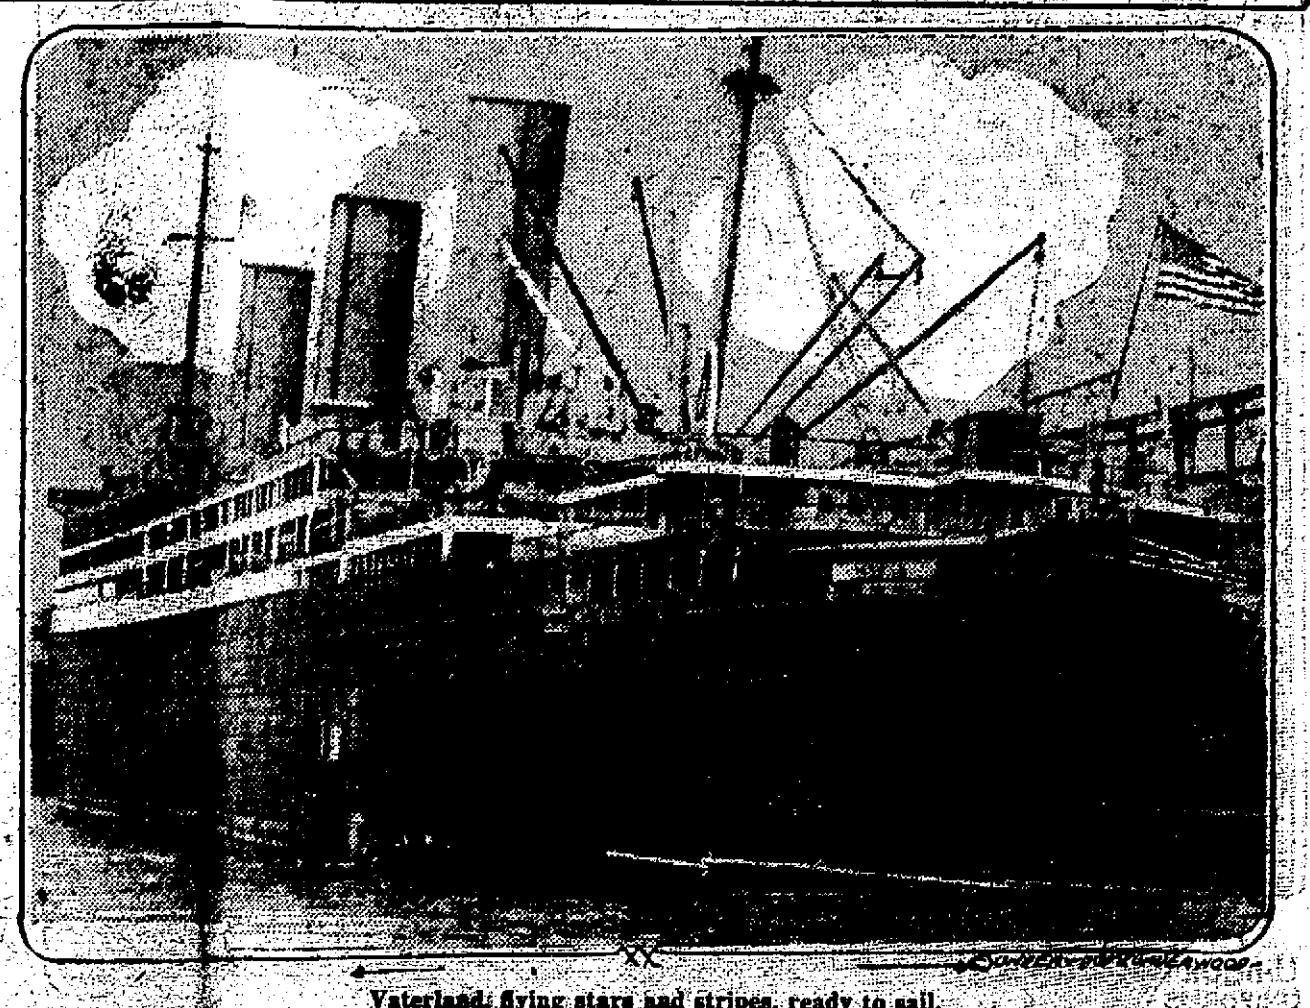

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Cleveland, Ohio, July 31.—The first man to be drafted into the new national army in Cleveland—and in Ohio as well—is Harry V. Oberlin.
Oberlin presented himself yesterday afternoon at an opportunity time when all members of the drafting board were present. Under the eye of a camera, registering a history-making episode, he went through the physical examination, passing without a single black mark. Medical examiners certified he was physically fit and placed his name at the top of what will become a list of Cleveland's quota to the new national army.Oberlin's examination at first was instituted as a rehearsal for the guidance of draft officials. When Oberlin informed officials that he claimed no exemption and it was seen that he fulfilled all the requirements of the test, the board decided that it would be unnecessary duplication to examine him again today.
That is how the rehearsal became an official examination and Oberlin earned the distinction of being Ohio's first drafted man.Ohio's first accepted member of the new national army is 24 years old, a salesman. He was born at Mansfield, and is single.Three local boards this morning began the physical examinations of men drafted into the national army.
Other boards will not begin the examination until Thursday, some Saturday, and two or three until next week.

NORTH AND EAST NEWARK TO SEE CANNING EXHIBIT

The local committee for the Council of National Defense, which has been working in the interest of food conservation, is expecting to have two canning demonstrations this week; although the places have not been fully decided upon, until after meeting of the committee, either this afternoon or Wednesday, the demonstrations will probably be given in East Newark and North Newark. A plan is being worked out also by the committee whereby a food-canning demonstration may be given in the Hartzler school building in South Fifth street.

Three of the six wards have sent in reports of the card-signing campaign and hundreds of housewives responded gladly to the requests of workers. Canning of foods has become the chief work in many homes in the city, and women are canning and preserving foods which they never thought of using in this way.

The intense heat of the past few days, which has swept the country from coast to coast, is endangering America's perishable food stuffs.

The department of agriculture issued a warning that the housewife must buy and can quickly or vast quantities of edibles would be wasted. "Buy up all surplus and can it at once," the department urged the women folks. "This hot weather makes immediate action absolutely necessary."

The government weather bureau received temperature reports from all parts of the country ranging from 90 to 100 degrees.

At the canning demonstration in West Newark, last week, under the supervision of Miss Carrie Zeitmyer, each woman who was present was given a chart, showing the correct amounts of sugar to be used, and the length of time for vegetables and fruits to be cooked. These charts are highly prized by the women, who will keep them for future use.

NEWARK WILL GET CHANCE TO HELP AMBULANCE UNITS

Newark people in a few days will have an opportunity to aid in the splendid work being done along the French battlefront by the American Field Force, the new name for the organization which has taken up the work formerly done under the name of the American Ambulance Corps.

W. K. Varney and E. Q. Cordiner of Chicago, were in the city today making preliminary arrangements for the tag-day which will be put on here in the near future. They secured the permission of Mayor Biggs to conduct such campaign and the organization will be perfect as rapidly as possible.

The campaign is to raise a fund to help pay the $35,000 daily expense necessary to keep the American ambulance men at the front. It is a patriotic service as well as a humanitarian service and one worthy of the support of all Americans.

In the early weeks of the war, France conscripted all French-owned automobiles for ambulance work. The American automobiles were not taken, but a number of Americans in Paris donated their cars for ambulance work and volunteered to drive them. From this nucleus of 11 automobiles the work has grown until now there are 1000 American ambulances, manned by Americans, succoring the wounded along the western battlefronts.

These ambulances in the three years of the war have brought in more than 500,000 desperately wounded men who would have perished but for the rapid and efficient service of these Americans. Of this half million men, 200,000 have been returned to the front as soldiers. Others, were either permanently crippled or died from their wounds.

It is to maintain this work that the funds now being raised will be used. The Washington officials have placed their O. K. on the plan at the earnest request of the French government.

FAIRMOS KILTIES SEEK RECRUITS IN THE BUSY STREETS OF CHICAGO

UNIQUE UNIFORMS
in the
UNITED STATES

Kilties from the Forty-eighth Highlanders, the Scotch Canadian regiment of Toronto, Ontario, which has earned enduring fame for its part in the war, are marching the streets of Chicago this week, as part of the drive for recruits for the Allied armies which has been organized and carried through by Colonel John S. Dennis, commanding the Western Division, British Recruiting Mission, with the cooperation of Captain Franklin R. Kenny, U. S. A., in charge of recruiting for the Chicago district.

Two hundred Highlanders with their regimental band and their pipers parade the streets every day, and the "skirl" of the pipes is heard above the din of the "I" and the traffic cop's whistle.

It is only part of the program, however, to stir enthusiasm and bring recruits to the recruiting stations. The Forty-eighth Highlanders have been in the war from the very beginning, going overseas as the Fifteenth Canadian battalion in the First Division, and fighting through St. Julien, Festubert, Courcelles, the Somme, and Vimy Ridge. Since the British Recruiting Mission opened western headquarters in Chicago, a number of Chicago men have joined this now famous regiment.

Britons and Canadians of military age resident in the United States are estimated by Colonel Dennis at 500,000. Until the British Mission was given permission by Congress to recruit in this country, it was necessary for a man to pay his own way to Canada for examination, with the chance of being rejected after he got there. More than 4,000 did go, but now a man may be examined and accepted at the nearest recruiting depot either of the United States army or of the British Mission, and his pay begins the day he "signs on."

BARRAGE FIRE IS NEW ATTACK IS MOST EFFECTIVE

be accomplished by any sweeping victory achieved on the Flanders front.

The attack of the two allied armies is marked on the southern boundary of its field by the River Lys, about 30 miles from the coast. "A wide front" is the official British expression describing its scope which obviously does not make it clear how far towards the coast the thrust extends.

The operation gives every evidence of being a major one, however, and it is clear that it was successful in its initial stages, the war office account declaring that the first objectives were attained on the entire front attacked and that "satisfactory progress" was continuing at all points. Many prisoners already have been taken.

The launching of the drive was seemingly a surprise to the Germans, who only yesterday were boasting that the intensity of their reply to the British bombardment had caused the British gunners to lessen the violence of their fire. It comes, moreover, after the failure of the tremendous efforts the German crown prince has been putting forth to break the French front in the Aisne region. The French reserve force evidently is great enough not only to withstand such a powerful hammering successfully, but to allow of co-operation with the British in a stroke at another portion of the line.

In addition General Petain last night made a successful attack on his own account on the Aisne front, carrying German positions, 1500 yards wide on the Chemin des Dames de la Royere and west of Epine de Chevregny, breaking a German counter attack and capturing more than 100 prisoners.

ATTACKED AT 3:30 A. M.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, July 31.—British troops in conjunction with the French forces on their left attacked the German positions along a wide front north of the River Lys at 3:30 o'clock this morning.

The allied troops, according to a British official statement, have captured their first objectives on the whole front and are reported to be making satisfactory progress at all points.

A considerable number of prisoners already have been captured by the French and British.

BERLIN REPORTS ATTACK.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, July 31.—Strong attacks by the enemy's allies have commenced along a wide front from the Yser to the Lys in Flanders, says the official statement issued today by the German general staff. The infantry battle in Flanders, the statement adds, has thus far not German forces have captured Weissenbach and Sniatyn.

In the wooded Carpathian area the Teutons forced the Russians to abandon their positions in the Meste-Canastra sector.

The Russian frontier river of Zbroc has been crossed by the Austro-German troops at many points along a 20-mile front in spite of bitter Russian resistance, the German report says. Turkish troops captured the Russian positions near Niwra on the river Zbroc.

In the region of the Bereczken mountains one of the German regiments was pressed back to the south of Czerniow.

However, the committee is still working hard to put over the financial campaign and local people are urged to secure their season tickets today. Thereafter the price will be $2.50 for adult tickets and $1.25 for child tickets.

One of the first important features of the Chautauqua will be Patriotic Day on Thursday. Preceding the evening lecture by Dr. Ng. Ald Bader and R. Wilkie, the former proprietor of the Bader restaurant, and the latter the owner of the Wilkie grocery at Buckeye Lake, were in an automobile accident, Monday night, in South Third street. Bader was the only one injured and his crew of college tent men and all hands have been busy preparing for the grand opening.

However, the committee is still working hard to put over the financial campaign and local people are urged to secure their season tickets today. Thereafter the price will be $2.50 for adult tickets and $1.25 for child tickets.

One of the first important features of the Chautauqua will be Patriotic Day on Thursday. Preceding the evening lecture by Dr. Ng. Chautauqua begins Wednesday. Superintendent B. J. Young arrived Monday with the "big top" and his crew of college tent men and all hands have been busy preparing for the grand opening.

STRONGEST LOCOMOTIVE IS AMERICAN BUILT

FAMOUS HORSE-SHOP CURVE

Once more has American genius demonstrated its supremacy in the railroad field, this time in the production of the most powerful locomotive in the world; not a freak built for spectacular purposes, but the first of a standard type of giants of the rails constructed for a definite purpose. It is capable of developing 7,000 horse power, and was designed and built by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

This monster, capable of exerting as much power as a string of trolley cars over half a mile long, draws its current from a wire no bigger than that used by a trolley car, or about the size of a lead pencil. This is made possible by the use of the high voltage alternating current system.

The important field for this engine will be for hauling the tremendously heavy freight traffic of the Pennsyl-

GEN. PERSHING ON VISIT TO THE CAMP OF THE U. S. FORCES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

American Training Camp in France, July 31.—News that General Pershing, commander of the American expedition, would visit the training camp Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday was withheld from the American troops until yesterday in order that the general might see the actual every day working conditions—that he might find the men at their daily task without undue preparations being made for his inspection.

Major General Pershing, motorizing from Paris, is expected to arrive at the field headquarters late this afternoon when he will be received with his honors befitting his rank as commander in chief of the expeditionary forces.

The inhabitants of the French village where the American headquarters is located quickly sensed today the fact that something important was about to happen and there was much enthusiasm when they heard who was believed. The simple peasant folk brought out their French flags and the tiny village assumed quite an air of gaiety.

The general will find the troops in splendid condition physically and the equipment in the best order, some scattered units of the American forces have been having great difficulty with their mail which seems to have gone astray. This is particularly true of the Red Cross hospital units which recently arrived and is causing much concern among the doctors, nurses and enlisted men who fear the folks at home will think something untoward has happened to them. It can be stated that all the members of the Roosevelt and Johns Hopkins units are well and happy and anxious for their real work to begin.

STEEL BARGES TAKE COAL UP MISSISSIPPI RIVER

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

St. Louis, Mo., July 31.—A fleet of steel-barges with a cargo of 6,000 tons of coal left St. Louis today for St. Paul, Minn. The fleet is expected to reach St. Paul in seven to 10 days. A cargo of iron ore will be brought back to St. Louis.

The trip, it is believed, will decide whether navigation can be carried successfully on the Mississippi river in the transportation of low-priced commodities. A government steamer is towing the barges.

AMERICANS REACH SWITZERLAND FROM TURK PROVINCES

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Berne, July 31.—A large party of American consuls and missionaries from Turkey, Asia Minor and Palestine have arrived here. They include W. S. Hollis and Ralph F. Chesnburgh, Beirut; Jess H. Jackson, Aleppo; Leslie A. Davis, Harput; Edward J. Nathan, Mesopotamia; Theodore J. Struve, Haifa; Otto A. Glazebrook and H. H. Dick, Jerusalem, and their families, totalling about 21 persons.

Consul Glazebrook said that about sixty American missionaries and 90 American Jews left at the same time. "We were everywhere well-treated by the Turkish and Austrian authorities during the journey," said he. "We had to provide our own provisions. Naturally, everything is dear in Turkey but conditions there do not appear to be better or worse than in other belligerent countries. Foreign residents in Jerusalem are quite safe. No complaints were made to me.

There are now in Palestine about 500 Jewish American citizens. All of them have been given permission to leave but they prefer to remain. Besides these there are about 150 other Americans, mostly college teachers and professors still residing in Turkey. We shall remain here until we receive instructions from Washington."

BATHERS WIN BATTLE WITH CHICAGO POLICE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, July 31.—Attempts of the police to drive bathers from Oak street beach which is situated along fashionable Lake Shore Drive caused a riot last night in which several thousand people participated.

A city ordinance forbidding bathers to use the beach had been issued, except between the hours of 4 a. m. and 8 a. m., but the excessive heat drove many into the lake in defiance of the law.

A patrol wagon load of policemen advanced to the water's edge and commanded the bathers to come ashore.

They simply laughed at the officers.

Then one policeman removed his coat and waded out. He managed to seize one of the bathers and drag her ashore.

This was the signal for a riot. The spectators closed in on the police, battering several of them.

The crowd surged about the police, hampering their movements and howling threats against them and the residents of "The Drive."

Eight persons were arrested, including three girls, who were taken to the police station in their bathing suits.

Reinforcements arrived but the bathers won the day and remained in the water until late night.

CANADIANS GAIN BY OUT-GUESsing THE TEUTON OFFICERS

Canadian Headquarters in France, July 31. (By Canadian Press Limited)—By a minor operation yesterday the Canadian front was advanced in the region east of Reservoir Hill and Lens. The losses of the Canadians were inconsiderable and the advance given them possession of a stretch of difficult country extending about one thousand yards north and south, with a depth easterly from our former front of over 400 yards.

The gain was made as a result of careful scouting. By close observation it was learned that to lessen the heavy losses from our artillery which has been pounding Cite du Moulin steadily for the past two weeks, the enemy withdrew men holding the line among its ruined houses during the day and only manned the positions at night when he learned from former experience of Canadian methods any attack in force was likely to be made. That was good tactics, but the obvious method of catching the enemy napping was to send an attacking party in daylight while our bombardment was still in progress. This was done. The range of our guns was increased as the men went over and out the enemy outposts off from their supports.

PROPOSE DRAFT FOR PHYSICIANS; CLAIM VOLUNTEERS FAIL

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, July 31.—A petition was being circulated today in hospitals and among doctors asking that congress provide for a selective draft of the American doctors for military service. The petition also asks the exemption of "bona-fide" physicians from the present draft law.

The proposed draft would take physicians and surgeons between the ages of 21 and 45 and would be carried out similar to the draft for the army. According to the heads of several hospitals here the petition was sent from the Council of National Defense at Washington which is supporting the plan.

The petition declares that the method of recruiting the medical corps of the army by commissioning reserve officers in that corps who volunteer has proven a failure and asks that in behalf of the warfare of the nation a draft for physicians be made.

WEST VIRGINIA NOT TO OCCUPY CAMP WITH OHIO TROOPS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Montgomery, Ala., July 31.—According to a letter received today from Representative Dent, chairman of the House military committee, the West Virginia National Guards will not be sent to Camp Sheridan here, the training camp being used exclusively by the Ohio guardsmen. "In view of the fact that the Ohio troops now compose a full division they will occupy the camp at Montgomery alone. The West Virginia troops will not be sent to Montgomery," writes Mr. Dent. No intimation as to where the troops are to be sent is contained in the letter.

IMPROVE CAR SUPPLY TO RUSH LUMBER TO CAMPS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, July 31.—In ordering empty freight cars to be promptly moved from one railroad to another, regardless of ownership, the railroads' war board has adopted a policy new to American railroad usage and hopes thereby to solve the problem of rapidity mobilizing in different sections of the country the freight cars necessary to handle the abnormal Government and commercial traffic that war conditions have produced.

Reports to the war board from the car service commission show that orders have been given to 36 separate railroads to ship immediately 68,814 freight cars to 54 other railroads. These cars are being moved without load and in the quickest possible time.

The reports show further that 46,682 cars have actually been received by the roads for whose benefit this arbitrary movement is ordered, and that 51,795 cars have already been delivered by the initial roads to intermediate lines in the direction of ultimate destination.

Among the immediate and important results of this redistribution of cars will be the increased facilities for the prompt shipment of lumber to the army cantonment sites and the ship-building yards. Lumber for cantonments is to be supplied from the Carolinas, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Arkansas. Thousands of extra cars have been supplied to the lines operating in these states.

DR. SCOLE'S LECTURE PLEASED HIS AUDIENCE

Rev. J. N. Scholes, pastor of a large church at Johnstown, Pa., and a former Newark pastor, delivered one of the most able and scholarly addresses ever given before a Newark audience at Taylor Hall last night. He left this morning for Cleveland. Mr. Scholes' lecture on "Uncle Sam's Trouble" was of a patriotic nature, in which the speaker gave glimpses of nation building.

ENGLISH EDITORS WANT WILSON TO "STUMP" AMERICA

London, July 31.—The address of Secretary of State Lansing at Madison Barracks, Sackett Harbor, New York, Sunday, is commented upon appreciatively. Some morning newspapers are showing the clear vision wherewith the American government regards the main issue and conveying unanimously words of doom to the enemy. The Times, regretting the "full truth," is yet very imperfectly grasped by the masses of Americans. Their imagination is yet unfired." Despite the words of reason in President Wilson's and Secretary Lansing's expositions, the Times refers to the popular confidence of the president and indirectly appeals to him to go on the stump for the purpose of awakening the people.

"It is not from the written but from the spoken word of the president that the significance of this tremendous conflict to them, and their children must be brought home to the American hearts. And he alone commands the confidence of all. To his explanations and his summons they will respond as to none others."

HARRY PFAFF IS WITH THE PAN-AMERICAN

The Pan-American Motors Corporation of Decatur, Illinois, announces the completion of an arrangement with Harry C. Pfaff by which he becomes the Sales Manager for the Pan-American at Washington which is supporting the plan.

The acquisition of Mr. Pfaff is well in accord with the Pan-American's determined plan of building an organization composed of thoroughly experienced automobile men.

Mr. Pfaff's work in the past in the automobile industry is the best indication of what may be expected from him in his new capacity with the Pan-American Motors Corporation. Mr. Pfaff pioneered with the Chevrolet car in the State of Illinois and the gossip, in automobile circles, has it that he was highly responsible for the unusual success of the Chevrolet in that state. His particular endeavor and success with the Chevrolet was the construction of a strong dealer organization who were allied to "Harry" by his personal integrity and fair dealing.

AUTOMOBILE TOURING.

The custom of automobile vacationing in summer is revolutionizing many of our business and social conditions. There are summer resorts that have been nearly killed by the change in the customs of their former patrons. They used to be accessible enough by railroad, but if it is not a good automobile country with roads well kept up and decently accessible, the motor crowd simply won't come there. As a result summer cottages stand empty, and hotels can scarcely pay their expenses.

Meanwhile a new business has sprung up of catering to the automobile travelling public. In the older parts of the country little inns that were flourishing in stage coach days and then had to quit business, have opened up again. A golden stream of travellers descends on them, provided they have the sense and enterprise to make the tourists comfortable. They blossom out with new paint and new furniture, and acquire a prosperity to the old residents.

Long distance travelling is popular. On any day on the favorite roads, you will see cars from states a thousand miles away. These cars are not necessarily the more costly makes on which you can slip over rough places with the least possible motion. They may be the cheapest grade of machines. But the tourists are good for it, and if they get bumped by rough surfaces and lack of shock absorbers, they call it beneficial for their sluggish livers.

Many of these outfits take along tents and camp in the open. They put up with some inconveniences, but they acquire an intimate knowledge of the country, escape tedium, and see new things every day. They come home brown as gypsies and have their money's worth. As vacations go, it is a pretty inexpensive one. It is a restless age, but a habit that keeps people thus out of doors is on the whole very beneficial.

AUTOMATIC STOP.

Regret is expressed by the Rail-way Age Gazette that the system of automatic train stops is not being adopted more rapidly. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois is said to have operated it very successfully. The excuse given is that it would be expensive, that new issues of stock and bonds would be required, and that the railroads are not allowed to have rates that make it possible to sell securities on a favorable basis.

The public is keenly anxious to have all possible safety appliances installed. Yet it recognizes that these things cost a lot of money that must be paid for in rates. Whether the public would be willing to allow sufficient rate advances to allow a general installation of automatic stop devices is possibly open to question.

The chances are that with present high prices for everything, we must get along with old-fashioned methods for a time longer. After all, the ceaseless cultivation of the quality of human vigilance will bring results in the long run. The accident record on the railroads in past years was due only in part to lack of equipment. It is due quite as much to a certain temperamental carelessness running through American life.

No railroad operation can be put on a sound basis except by a persistent policy of encouraging vigilance, and not taking chances. The operating heads must get right down out of their studded office chairs, and among their men in the railroad yards and engine cars, and talk Safety First to them.

Then the spirit of discipline must

of the books of the moment speaks of "his son, whom he had the bad taste to say resembled all other babies"; and hardly a day passes without some newspaper falling in to the same trap.—London Observer.

It would be manifestly unfair to conscript citizens and men who have taken first steps toward citizenship and to grant all aliens a blanket exemption, as the present law contemplates. Such action puts a premium on neglect and evasion; it penalizes
the foreign-born for doing precisely what every Americanization agency in the country have urged them for years to do.

Much of the complaint against selective conscription, as the system has been worked out in recent years, has been against the unfairness shown toward communities which contain unusual numbers of aliens in their population. Draft quotas have been based practically upon each community's registration, from which it is obvious that communities with unusual proportions of aliens are forced to bear more than their just share of the burden of service.

This condition would in large part be corrected by making aliens liable to service. In view of the virtually world-wide alliance against Prussia, it is scarcely to be anticipated that other nations will seriously protest
the suggested action by congress.

The place for an alien—except an enemy alien—of proper age and fitness is either in the army of the United States, if he is needed, or back in the country of his affections.

The point seems clear. Congress appears ready to act.

"Congress is determined," says Senator Harding, "that aliens who enjoy the privilege of making their domicile here shall not fatten themselves in ingratitude and escape obli-igation they owe in time of national stress." The entire country will applaud the enactment of the Chamberlain measure.

Working and Fasting.

A fat ration is no good. Lean nations accomplish things. Courage is not fat bellied. Intellect is not fat headed. The otiose life finds place in the adipose body. We should eat less and think more, have smaller girth and larger chests, less on the hips and more on the thorax, have fewer potatoes at dinner and more books after dinner, more exercise and less chewing. A strong person can subsist on a little oatmeal and philosophy and out-walk, outtalk, outthink and in every way outdo the person who travels the long route from soup to nuts and goes to sleep afterwards as an anaconda full of sheep or monkeys night.—Chicago Tribune.

How Canada Will Save Food.

Beeftless and baconless days, as well as other economies, are soon to be introduced in Canada, in an effort to reduce the consumption of foods needed in Great Britain. The regulations to be enforced in public eating houses, which have been prepared by the Food Consumption Committee of the Dominion, call for the elimination of beef and bacon on Tuesdays and Fridays, no bacon except at breakfast on other days, a substitute for white bread at every meal on all days, as large as possible of green vegetables and other perishable foods in season, and two courses for breakfast, and luncheon and three for dinner, and measures to conserve the supply of foodstuffs that they may be sent overseas. The general public will be exhorted to adopt a similar regimen in the home.—Rochester Tribune.

Did You Know?

That there are said to be 3,424 spoken languages or dialects in the world? They are distributed as follows: America, 1,624; Asia, 937; Europe, 587; Africa, 276. The English language is spoken by more than 150,000,000 people. The German by more than 120,000,000;
Russian by more than 90,000,000;
French by more than 60,000,000;
Spanish by more than 55,000,000;
Italian by more than 40,000,000;
Portuguese by more than 30,000,
000. The English language contains approximately 600,000 words. Of these nearly one-half consists of scientific terminology, and of archaic and obsolete terms. It has been computed that 60 per cent of English words are of Saxon origin; 30 per cent Latin, including those received through French; 5 per cent Greek, and 5 per cent other sources.

"Jail, Delivery."

Dear Editor Melting Pot:—I wonder if you have ever noticed how often great men in civil and military life, such as you and I, are imposed upon. We are as a rule very tender-hearted and an appeal for aid comes from the needy and distressed, usually meets with a ready response.
Take my own case for instance. My junior officers are a harem scaramlot, that love to hit the high spots regardless of the consequences that are always sure to follow. Why it was only a couple of days ago that a call reached me from Captain Bill as follows:

"Dear John, I feel so queer
My brother is condemned.
Because you know I had to go
And get myself arrested!"

But you old scout can get me out

If you will only try sir,
So please don't leave me here to grieve
Or I will surely die sir.

Now I'll leave it to you, what in the world is a man to do when he receives such a pathetic little S.
O. S. as this, especially when it comes from one of his staff officers.

Did I respond? Most assuredly I did for it caught me in one of my most generous moods and I not only freed Bill but all others that were incarcerated therein. Cases like this have become so numerous that I stand before you today as a marked man and it seems that every time I enter the bastile of late, I can see the warden grit his teeth in rage, at the thought of losing some of his visitors, while the keepers smile and wink at one another and remark as follows: Here comes the Major again
so look out for another General Jail Delivery. I. Gotmine.

Our Boys and Girls

I once saw a young mother take up her baby and run frantically when she heard a child cough with whooping cough. An elderly woman who was sitting near her called out, "Don't run; your baby has got to get it some time and this is as good a time as any."

This seems to be a rather common belief among some mothers, but it is the most absurd one I have ever heard. The idea that the disease common to children such as measles, mumps, whooping cough, etc., are necessary is all wrong. The wise mother guards her child from them all.

Every time your child contracts any kind of a disease the power of resistance is lessened for the next germs that comes his way. Guard against them all, for you are very lucky and fortunate if you escape. I have known of the most serious results from the so-called "necessary" children's diseases.

Whooping cough has turned into pneumonia without much warning and with disastrous results.

Measles most always come first with a cold. A cough usually accompanies this, with watery eyes, and nose. The eruption comes a little later, usually in four days, and consists of small red spots appearing first on the neck, chest and face and slowly spreading over the entire body.

Milady's Boudoir

Although a headache is looked upon as a very ordinary ailment, it sometimes grows to be an annoyance as well as a destroyer of beauty. No one can look really charming, or even fail to show traces of pain, while suffering from a blinding headache.

A headache always has a cause, usually in some other part of the body, although the eyes are often the cause. Of course a nervous shock, worry or some trouble may be the cause of the headache, which while painful is not necessarily alarming. But if a certain kind of headache recurs at frequent intervals, it is time not only to find a cure, but a cause.

One should not try headache remedies promiscuously without a doctor's advice, unless one knows what is in the dose, because headaches which show a tendency to become chronic are not properly headaches at all and cannot be reached by headache medicines, or at least permanently cured as such headaches are sympathetic messengers from the brain recording a disturbance somewhere else in the body.

The trouble may, of course, be in the head, the ears, the eyes, the nerves, or adenoidal growths—all cause headaches and the first symptom of an abscess in the inner ear is a headache. Kidney trouble is often indicated by a headache, and we all know that most of the ordinary headaches are directly due to the stomach.

Probably it is well that such a forcible reminder tells us something is wrong, if we are only wise enough to listen to the persistent hammering.

A headache is often due to an empty stomach or a stomach over-loaded with indigestible food.

PRETTY DRESSES EASILY

MADE FOR THE HOME

Finally, it appears that a happy medium has been struck in sports garments. This refers to colors and fabrics as well as to the styles themselves.

Apparently everyone is more or less relieved that the bizarre colors and fantastic trimmings are approaching the end of their vogue. If many quarters it is considered that the latter has been already of too long a duration. However this may be it is certain that same effects, which must be a matter of congratulation to the majority of womankind.

It may be that the return of ginghams has aided the return of vivid colors. The ginghams are charmingly represented in checked and plaided designs, and as they are novel and seasonable it is not to be wondered at that they have been established in high favor.

Gingham has been taken up in sports of silk or satin and without doubt it will be in evidence wherever the impromptu farmer maid plays at gardening this summer. A model designed by a foreign lady somewhat familiar with farming conditions, is an excellent example of a two-piece dress which combines beautiful with the practical.

The coloring is blue and white in a checked design. About the hem there appears a worsted finish of a cherry tone, applied in a sort of broad overhand stitch. This treatment is reported on the hem of the smock, about the collar and the ends of the long, modified bishop sleeves.

This smock is slipped over the head and fastened half way down the front with lacings of the worsted, crocheted to give greater durability. Directly below the slashed opening of the neck there is embroidered a flat, rose-like motif done in the worsted.

At the wrist the sleeves are secured by means of the crocheted worsted strings which are then tied and permitted to dangle in the back of the wrist. The belt is composed of fine white cotton crepe and the collar is of the same material.

With this farmer-like dress there should be worn a hat, of course, soft straw with the brim bound with the gingham and attached to the straw by means of worsted overhanding. There may be string ties of the gingham to be fastened under the chin or at the back of the neck. A soft felt hat may be substituted if one prefers.

Every effort has been made to keep the new sports dresses free from fussy trimming. Even the little dresses, which may be used for semi-formal occasions out of town, are simply trimmed with pique vests and girdles or with organdie collars and cuffs.

In loving remembrance of Mary E. Shaw, who died July 31, 1916, wife and mother dearest loved one. One year ago today. We stand at your bedside. And saw you pass away.

Our Savior took you from us. It was His holy will. And left in our hearts a vacancy. Which no one else can fill.

But in the saddest moments. One happy thought holds sway. We will meet again dear loved one. And be happy some sweet day. Sadly missed by Byron Shaw and Children.

TO IRON EMBROIDERY. An easy way to iron embroidered centerpieces and towels is to spread a thick bath towel over the ironing board, then spread the well-dampened embroidery over this and press with a good hot iron. Care should be taken, however, not to have the iron too hot, for if it is, it may make brown stains on the back of the heavy parts of the embroidery.

BRITISH WAR HEROINE WEDS SOLDIER

Captain Moore and his bride leaving church after the ceremony.

Lady Dorothy Feilding, one of England's best known war heroines, was recently married to Captain Charles Moore of the Irish Guards. Convalescent wounded soldiers battered the couple with rice as they left the church after the ceremony.

Lady Feilding has risked her life on many occasions in performing her duties as ambulance attendant both on the western and Balkan fronts, and she has been decorated not only by Great Britain, but by France and Belgium, too. In the first Balkan war, in 1912, she also distinguished herself by heroic service with the Serbian Red Cross.

SOME CABBAGE RECIPES

then add the milk or cream, hot, and cook three minutes longer. Serve.

Baked Eggplant.

For baked eggplant make a dressing as for stuffed peppers, except that a little more salt, pepper and butter are used. Cut the eggplant in two lengthwise, scrape out the inside, and mash it fine, then mix with the dressing and return to the shells. Place on a pan and in the oven. Cook 45 minutes.

To Boil Cabbage.

Cut a small head of cabbage into four parts, cutting down through the stock. Soak for half an hour in a pan of cold water to which has been added a tablespoonful of salt; this is to draw out any insects that may be hidden in the leaves. Take from the water and cut into slices. Have a large stewpan full of boiling water; put in the cabbage, pushing it under the water with a spoon. Add one tablespoonful of salt and cook from twenty-five to forty-five minutes depending upon the age of the cabbage. Turn into a colander and drain for about two minutes.

Put in a chopping bowl and mince. Season with butter, pepper and more salt if required. Allow a tablespoonful of butter to a generous pint of the cooked vegetable. Cabbage cooked in this manner will be of delicious flavor and may be generally eaten without distress. Have the kitchen windows open at the top while the cabbage is boiling, and there will be little if any odor of cabbage in the house.

Jerusalem Artichokes.

Wash well six medium-sized Jerusalem artichokes, and boil until cooked through, adding a pinch of salt to the water. Peel the artichokes and slice them, then fry in butter with a little salt and pepper sprinkled over them. An excellent sauce may be made by melting two tablespoons of butter in the frying pan and adding one cup or more of breadcrumbs, with seasoning of salt and pepper. When well-browned, a little water may be added, one-half cup or so; that depends on how thick or thin—one wishes the sauce to be.

Surprise Toast.

Remove skins and slice enough cold sausages to cover as many slices of toast as one wishes to serve. Into a saucpan put six tablespoons of tomato sauce, two tablespoons of boiled rice, one-half teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper; bring to boiling point. Cover the hot toast with the pieces of sausage, cut thin, and pour the tomato and rice over it. If the Surprise toast has had a chance to cool, set it in the oven a moment to heat, then serve immediately.

A VACATION TRIP ON A FREIGHT STEAM

"OVER THERE"

The Thrill and the Hell of the Trenches, Described by an American Boy.

Sergeant Alexander McClintock of Lexington, Ky., and the Canadian Army Has Gripping Tale That Every American Will Read, For He Tells the Facts—Unadorned. Wounded, a Distinguished Conduct Medal Man, He Was Invalided Home, but Is Going "Out There" Again to Fight For Uncle Sam and His Allies. An Inspiring, Interesting, Personal Narrative, Full of the Spirit and Atmosphere of the Trenches.

He was told me by one of our men, who said he was there when it began. He said one of the Australians had carelessly remarked that the British generals had decided it was time to get through with the sideshow in Belgium, and this was the reason why they had sent regular troops like the Australians in to relieve the Canadians.

Then some sensitive Canadian wished the Australians luck and hoped they'd finish it up as well as they had the affair in the Dardanelles. After that our two days' rest was made up principally of beating it out of estaminets when strategic requirements suggested a new base or beating it into estaminets when it looked as if we could act as efficient re-enforcements.

That fight never stopped for forty-eight hours, and the only places it didn't include were the church and the hospitals. I'll bet to this day that the Belgians who run the estaminets in Poperinghe will duck behind the bars if you just mention Canada and Australia in the same breath.

But I'm bound to say that it was good, clean fighting. Nobody fired a shot, nobody pulled a bayonet, and nobody got the wrong idea about anything. The Australian heavyweight champion who landed on me went right out in the street and saluted one of our lieutenants. We had just one satisfying reflection after the fight was over—the Australian battalion that relieved fell heir to the counterattack which the Germans sent across to even up on our bombing raid.

A FEW days after the bombing raid, which ended so disastrously for us, our battalion was relieved from duty on the front line, and the tip we got was that we were to go down to the big show then taking place on the Somme. Our relief was a division of Australians. You see, the sector which we had held in Belgium was a sort of preparatory school for the regular fighting over in France. It wasn't long before we got into what you might call the big league contest, but in the meanwhile we had a little rest from battling Fritz and the opportunity to observe some things which seem to me to be worth telling about. Those of you who are exclusively fond of the stirring detail of war, such as shooting and being shot at and bombing and bayoneting, need only skip a little of this. We had an entirely satisfactory amount of smoke and excitement later.

As soon as our relief battalion had got in we moved back to Poperinghe for a couple of days' rest. We were a pretty contented and jovial lot, our platoon especially. We were all glad to get away from the strain of holding a front trench, and there were other advantages. For instance, the alterations of our muster due to casualties had not come through battalion headquarters, and therefore we had in our platoon sixty-three rum rations night and morning and only sixteen men.

That was last August, and the allies haven't broken through yet. Eventually I believe they will break through, but in my opinion men who are drawn for service in the first half million of our new American army will be veterans in Europe before the big break comes which will wreck the Prussian hope of success in this war. And if we of the U. S. A. don't throw in the weight to beat the Prussians now they will not be beaten, and in that case the day will not be very far distant when we will have to beat them to save our homes and our nation. War is a dreadful and inglorious and ill-smelling and cruel thing. But if we hold back now we will be in the logical position of a man hesitating to go to grips with a drunken, savage, shrieking, spewing maniac who has all but whipped his proper keepers and is going after the onlooker. However, I wish we had had two months more of weather on the Somme. There might have been a different story to tell.

Simplified Medicine.

We got drafts of recruits before we went to the Somme, and some of our wounded men were sent back to England, where we had left our "safety first battalion." That was really the Fifty-first battalion of the Fourth division of the Canadian forces, composed of the physically rejected, men recovering from wounds and men in training. The Tommies, however, called it the "safety first," or "Major Gilday's Light Infantry." Major Gilday was our battalion surgeon. He was immensely popular, and he achieved a great name for himself. He made one realize what a great personal force a doctor can be and what an unnecessary elaboration there is in the civil practice of medicine.

Under Major Gilday's administration no man in our battalion was sick if he could walk, and if he couldn't walk there was a reasonable suspicion that he was drunk. The major simplified medicine down to an exact science of two forms of treatment and two remedies—"number nines" and whale oil. "Number nines" were pale oval pills, which, if they had been eggs, would have run about six to an omelet for six persons. They had an internal effect which could only be defined as dynamic. After our men had become acquainted with them through personal experience they stopped calling them "number nines" and called them "whiz-bangs." There were only two possibilities of error under Major Gilday's system of simplified medicine. One was to take a whiz-bang for trench feet and the other to use whale oil externally for some form of digestive hesitancy. And in either case no permanent harm could result, while the error was as simple of correction as the command "about face." Blighty was therefore not very popular with our battalion, blighty being the trench name for the hospital.

Two weeks and a half after we left Belgium we arrived at Albert, having marched all the way. The sight which met our eyes as we rounded the rocky quarry hill outside of Albert was wonderful beyond description. I remember how tremendously it impressed my pal, Macaulane. He sat by the roadside and looked round over the landscape as if he were fascinated.

"Boy," said he, "we're at the big show at last!"

Poor fellow! It was not only the big show, but the last performance for him. Within sight of the spot where he sat wondering he later fell in action and died. The scene which so impressed him gave us all a feeling of great awe. Great shells from a thousand guns were streaking and crisscrossing the sky. Without glasses I counted thirty-nine of our observation balloons. Away off in the distance I saw one German captive balloon. The other aircraft were uncountable. They were everywhere, apparently in hundreds. There could have been no more wonderful panorama picture of war in its new aspect.

"Boy," said he, "we're at the big show at last!"

Our battalion was in and out of the town of Albert several days waiting for orders. The battle of Courcelette was then in progress, and the First, Second and Third Canadian divisions were holding front positions at terrible cost. In the first part of October, 1916, we "went in" opposite the famous Regina trench. The battleground was just miles and miles of debris and shell holes. Before we went to our position the officers and non-coms were taken in by scouts to get the lay of the land. These trips were called "Cook's tours." On one of them I went through the town of Poiziers twice and didn't know it. It had a population of 12,000 before the war. On the spot where it had stood not even a whole brick was left, it seemed. Its demolition was complete. That was an example of the condition of the whole country over which our forces had blasted their way for ten miles since the previous July. There were not even landmarks left.

The "Cook's Tour."

On the night when we went in to inspect the positions we were to hold, our scouts, leading us through the flat desert of destruction, got completely turned round and took us back through a trench composed of shell holes connected up until we ran into a battalion of another brigade. The place was dreadful beyond words. The stench of the dead was sickening. In many places arms and legs of dead men stuck out of the trench walls.

We made a fresh start after our blunder, moving in single file and keeping in touch with the man ahead of him. We stumbled along in the darkness through this awful labyrinth until we ran into some of our own scouts at 2 a. m. and found that we were halfway across No Man's Land, several hundred yards beyond our front line and likely to be utterly wiped out in twenty seconds should the Germans sight us. Fine guides we had on this "Cook's tour." At last we reached our proper position, and fifteen minutes after we got there a whiz-bang, a low explosive murderer, buried me completely. They had to dig me out. A few minutes later a high explosive shell fell in a trench section where three of our men were stationed. All we could find after it exploded were one arm and one leg, which we buried. The trenches were without trench mats, and the mud was from six inches to three feet deep all through them. There were no dugouts, only merely miserable "funk holes," dug where it was possible to dig them without uncovering dead men. We remained in this position four days, from the 17th to the 21st of October, 1916.

There were reasons, of course, for the difference between conditions in Belgium and on the Somme. On the Somme we were constantly preparing for a new advance, and we were only temporarily established on ground which we had but recently taken after long drumming with big guns. The trenches were merely shell holes connected by ditches. Our old and ubiquitous and variously useful friend, the sandbag, was not present in any capacity, and therefore we had no petts or dugouts. The communication trenches were all blown in, and everything had to come to us overland, with the result that we never were quite sure when we would get ammunition, rations or relief forces. The most awful thing was that the soil all about us was filled with freshly buried men. If we undertook to cut a trench or enlarge a funk hole our spades struck into human flesh and the explosion of a big shell along our line sent decomposed and dismembered and stinking mementos of an earlier fight showering among us. We lived in the muck and stench of "glorious" war, those of us who lived.

The German Dugout—and What They Found.

Here and there along this line we found the abandoned dugouts of the Germans, and we made what use of them we could, but that was little. I had orders one day to locate a dugout and prepare it for use as battalion headquarters. When I led squad in to clean it up the odor was so overpowering that we had to put on our gas masks. On entering we first saw two dead nurses with our ghastly flashlights, one standing with her arm around a post, just as she had stood when gas or concussion killed her. Seated at a table in the middle of the place was the body of an old general of the German medical corps, his head fallen between his hands. The task of cleaning up was too dreadful for us. We just tossed in four or five rumite bombs and beat it out of there. A few hours later we went into the scared and empty cavern, made the roof safe with new timbers and notified battalion headquarters that the place could be occupied.

During this time I witnessed a scene which, with some others, I shall never forget. An old chaplain of the Canadian forces came to our trench section seeking the grave of his son, which had been marked for him on a rude may by an officer who had seen the young man's burial. We managed to find the spot, and at the old chaplain's request we exhumed the body. Some of us suggested to him that he give us the identification marks and retire out of range of the shells which were bursting all around us. We argued that it was unwise for him to remain in danger, but what we really intended was that he should be saved the horror of seeing the pitiful thing which our spades were about to uncover.

"I shall remain," was all he said. "It was my boy."

It proved that we had found the right body. One of our men tried to clear the features with his handkerchief, but ended by spreading the handkerchief over the face. The old chaplain stood beside the body and removed his trench helmet, baring his gray head to a drizzle of rain that was falling. Then while we stood by silently his voice rose amid the noise of bursting shells, repeating the burial service of the Church of England. I have never been so impressed by anything in my life as by that scene.

How National Advertising Simplifies Telephone Ordering

(Copyright—Mallory, Mitchell & Faust)

It is a MATTER OF ECONOMY for the dealer to handle extensively advertised brands. Especially is this so in food products.

Economy of time results from what we have called CONSUMER ACCEPTANCE or the willingness of the consumer to accept advertised products without question. As busy a place as the ordinary grocery store this is a factor of decided importance.

A very definite way in which this principle of consumer acceptance results in economy for the grocer is by increasing the amount of business done by telephone. In many groceries which feature advertised brands, as much as 75 per cent or 80 per cent of their total business is done by telephone.

This huge percentage is possible ONLY because these stores handle the product which people have come to know through the advertising. People can ask for the product by the brand name—the ADVERTISED name and know just what they will receive.

It is not necessary to go to the store to SEE the article and receive the salesman's assurance that it is a quality product.

The consumer already KNOWS the product through the advertising and has only to specify the brand name when ordering, which can be done as well by telephone as by a personal visit to the store.

Consider the advantage to the grocer.

It means that the work of putting up orders may be distributed more evenly throughout the day. It means that it is not necessary to have idle clerks during a large part of the day in order to help enough for the rush hours, which are always a feature of the ordinary grocery store. It means that these rush hours as well as the idle hours are abolished to a large extent. It means fewer clerks are necessary.

In short, the handling of advertised brands of food products means simplified selling—filling ORDERS with well-known and acceptable merchandise instead of high-pressure selling.

CALL FOR TANLAC ON THE INCREASE

Sales Show People Depend on Master Medicine in Summer as Well as Winter.

Tanlac interest grows and grows. It is Druggist Ermann remarked last Saturday: "Seems that the summer season is as good or better for Tanlac than the cold weather, as the demand is much greater than last winter."

That Tanlac does all that is claimed for it is attested to by Mrs. Richard Baughman, 92 Valley street, Newark. Her statement follows: "My health is better in every way since taking Tanlac. For several months I had a sickening misery in my stomach, no matter what I ate. Even if I ate the lightest food, my stomach soured and bloated; then a mouthful of bitter, greasy substance would come up. My head always felt heavy and I laid awake at night. I'd get up so weak I almost fell over."

Tanlac's made a wonderful change in me. Now I can eat and never have the slightest distress. The second dose stopped the bloating and after the second day my stomach never soured again. I can go to bed early and sleep soundly until morning. I'm ready to bound from bed because I feel so full of life. I never had the strength before that I have now and my head never annoys me. Tanlac's all I need to stay well."

Tanlac, the new vegetable tonic, stomachic, appetizer, combatant and invigorant, is being specially introduced at Ermann's Arcade drug store, where the Tanlac man gives the particular to steadily growing crowds daily. Tanlac may also be procured at every first-class drug store in Newark. (Advt.)

RAILS FOR TRACKS DELAYING PAVING JOBS BADLY NEEDED

City Engineer Wells has written to J. H. Sundmaker, chief engineer of the Ohio Electric Railway asking him to come here Monday, August 6, to confer with the city council about providing new rails so the city can go ahead with street improvements.

The first stretch to be improved will be East Main street from the B. & O. tracks to Cedar street.

Later the square and West Main street and Third to Locust will be paved.

MOVIE ACTRESSES AND THEIR HAIR

Did it ever occur to you that every movie actress you have seen has lovely hair, while the most popular count their curls as their chief beauty? In fact, many are leading ladies just because of their attractive looks. Inquiry among them discloses the fact that they bring out all the natural beauty of their hair by careful shampooing, not with any soap or makeshift, but with a simple mixture by putting a teaspoonful of castor oil (which they get from the druggist) in a cup of hot water and applying this instead of soap. This full cup of shampoo liquid is enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. After its use, the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. The hair is so fluffy that it looks much heavier than it is, while its lustre and softness is delightful. (Advt.)
